Heidi McCorkle of the Vein Guys Receives Registered Phlebology Sonographer Certification.

Evans, Ga. - The Vein Guys announced today that Heidi McCorkle, Registered Vascular Technologist (RVT), earned her Registered Phlebology Sonographer certification from Cardiovascular Credentialing International.

The Registered Phlebology Sonographer (RPhS) certification, established in 2010, is the most specialized credential a vein sonographer can earn. While there are credentials that recognize special skills of individuals performing vascular ultrasound examinations, such as RVT, the RPhS focuses on expertise in phlebology ultrasound. "This certification is important to me because it recognizes my dedication to the field and the additional training and knowledge I've gained over the past seven years working in the sub-specialty of veins and vein disease," Ms. McCorkle said.

Ms. McCorkle is the lead Vascular Technologist for the Vein Guys, one of the largest vein care centers in the Southeast . The Vein Guys specialize in treating varicose veins and vein disease, and in addition to the Evans location, they have offices in Atlanta, GA; Nashville, TN and Raleigh, NC.
